What I bring to the table.

- Technical know-how. My years of experience allow me to contribute technically to projects of all sizes.
- A team member. With active contributions to discussions and decision-making.
- An owner. I own the projects i contribute to and act accordingly.

What am I looking for?

- The Room where it happens. A place where you can write code to make a sensible difference.
- A friendly workplace culture. In which opinions and contributions are welcome and hierarchy isn't a factor.
- Task-based accountability. I believe performance-not hours-is all that matters.
